

Terry Wild

Terry has experienced leadership in both business and academia. For 25 years he was involved in automotive marketing in Michigan, servicing companies like Volkswagen, Volvo GM Heavy Truck, and predominantly Ford Motor Company. He completed his marketing career as Vice President in one of the largest marketing communications firm in the country. While serving on the board of directors of Clearwater Christian College, God began leading and ultimately moving him and his family to Florida to become Vice President of Institutional Advancement. He served there for 11 years, the last two as Senior Vice President. Over the last nine years, he has been the Director of Cornerstone Foundation and part of the team at CF Capital, a private equity firm. A majority of his time is spent helping ministries with management issues while evaluating their needs for the Foundation. In his role at CF Capital, he continues to look for business opportunities while personally investing in Christian business leaders.

He is married to Jill, who faithfully serves with him in his role at Cornerstone Foundation. They are both actively involved and committed to serving in their local church. When not traveling, they make time visiting their two sons and their families, finding great joy investing in their four grandchildren.
